

HISTORY: AUSTRALIAN SCHOOLS CHAMPIONSHIPS 1981 - 2019

The first event known as the Australian Schools Orienteering Championships took place in 1981, when it took place in conjunction with the Victorian Schools Orienteering Championships, an event open to all orienteers attending school with age classes encompassing the range from M/W9 (or sometimes below) to M/W Open, and Tertiary and Teachers classes in some years. There was no significant interstate participation, apart from small groups from South Australia, until 1984, and 1986 was the first year in which the event attracted a reasonable proportion of the nation's juniors. The event left Victoria for the first time in 1985.

In 1989, the event was reconstituted as the Australian Secondary Schools Orienteering Championships under the auspices of the Australian Schools Sports Council, and became a competition for state teams of four in each of four age classes: Junior (under 15) and Senior Boys and Girls, with an individual and relay competition and a team point score. This has remained, in essence, the format to the present day, although there have been minor changes in eligibility rules to reflect changes in the school system in some states.

The 1989 competition was contested by ACT, South Australia, Tasmania, and Queensland. Victoria and Western Australia competed for the first time in 1990, and New South Wales in 1994. Tasmania did not compete between 1990 and 1993.

In 2003 New Zealand competed at the Australian Schools Championships for the first time, as part of the Southern Cross Junior Challenge.
